

CHAUTAUQUA WILL OPEN WITH FEATURE PROGRAM SATURDAY

Music To Be Offered Both Afternoon And Night—Noted Lecturer Here To Speak—Sale Of Tickets Gratifying—Talent Coming Said To Be Well Above Average.

The "big top" is being erected on the lot immediately in the rear of the library building, W. Milner of Lincoln, Neb., superintendent of the Redpath-Horner chautauqua is in town, and everything is being put into readiness for the first performance to be offered in Vernon at 2:45 tomorrow afternoon.

Through arrangements with the chautauqua management the Chamber of Commerce will extend passes to the afternoon production to all farmers of Wilbarger county. The occasion will be a "get together" event for town and rural residents. The passes may be obtained upon application at the Chamber office Saturday morning.

Ticket Hunt Tonight

A season ticket hunt for youngsters will be staged at 7 o'clock tonight on the court house lawn. At that time a number of free passes will be granted to the children finding them.

Local committees selling season tickets on the streets of Vernon report gratifying sales. Much interest is being shown in the chautauqua this year, it is pointed out. Performances will be offered twice a day for seven days. Afternoon programs will begin at 2:45 and night productions at 8 o'clock.

Talent this year is said to be above the average. Nolan Leary, the young man scoring a great success the previous season in "Broadway Jones" is taking the lead in "Turn To The Right" the play to be presented here Thursday.

The Phillips Sisters Orchestra, composed of six Highland lasses, will open the chautauqua tomorrow afternoon. They will play again in the evening, and will share the program with Dr. E. T. Hagerman, the noted lecturer.

All Are Talented

Every member of the Phillips Sisters company plays one instrument especially well. Five of them are sisters and have had the advantage of developing their musical talent together since babyhood. For this reason the ensemble numbers are so well rendered that this little orchestra of six people produces music both popular and classic, such as one would expect from a much larger organization. The solo work of all them is splendid.

Miss Helen Carrie, violinist, is both a talented artist and a winsome young woman. The entire combination is one that is especially interesting, for it includes violin, cello, trombone, cornet and drums in addition to other features.

Is Philosopher

"Twenty-five years service with Redpath is the record of Dr. E. Hagerman. The title of his lecture is "The Man With One Window."

Dr. Hagerman combines so much sound sense with such delightful humor that his audiences are enthusiastic. The man with one window is the man who sees the world through a narrow pane of glass and sees only so much of the world as this narrow aperture will permit. It is the man with a lot of windows in his house and who uses them all gets the most out of life and gives the most to his family, his community and his country, Dr. Hagerman says.

Carries Patriotism

Friendly Enemies is one of the great plays produced in America. It carries such a lesson in patriotism and loyalty as has seldom been written or dramatized.

Friendly Enemies was given its first showing in Washington. In the east were Louis Mann and Sam Bernard.

The President of the United States was in a box near the stage. The audience reached a high state of excitement. The president was called upon for a speech. He said the following:

"All that I can say has already been said most admirably in this beautiful play. All the sentiments I could express have been admirably represented—sentiments that I hope, will soon grip the world!"

HUSBAND AND WIFE IN SENATE RACE.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ferguson and Daughters.

James E. Ferguson, impeached several years ago as Governor of Texas on the charge of "juggling" State funds, is a candidate for the U. S. Senate. His wife also is a candidate—the first time in American history any such political race has occurred. They both seek the seat of Charles A. Culberson, senior Senator from Texas. The Constitution of the State of Texas provides that no impeached official can ever hold public office again. If Ferguson should be elected the legal aspect of the case will raise many complications.

Refreshments will be served, and an effort will be made to secure the attendance of every Elk in the city, regardless of his standing.

The present club rooms are considered by the members to be superior to any yet possessed by the local order. As soon as the floor in the assembly hall has been surfaced a big dance will be given by the Elks.

OIL DEVELOPMENT MARKS TIME WHILE TESTS ARE MADE

Sigler Offset To Be Given Opportunity To Prove Self a Producer—Sand Of Shallow Depth—Triangle Reams Down And Will Standardize—Noble Drills Out Shoe.

Those in charge of the Sigler offset being drilled south of town will make a thorough test of the sand encountered before proceeding further, according to advices issued from the office of the oil company this morning. The present sand, about two feet in depth, holds promise, it was pointed out, and its possibilities as a producer of merit will be carefully determined.

Sigler officials are frank to state that they are gratified over the nature of the structure, but its shallow depth may prove a drawback. The next couple days, it was thought, will bring developments.

Triangle Standardizing

No further developments were reported from the Triangle well today. The hole, 2,069 feet deep, is being reamed down to the bottom, and casing will be set. After this work has been completed, the hole will be standardized.

A promising sand has been encountered, was the comment of J. E. Watts, president, but little is known of its nature as the surface has only been scratched. Mr. Watts expressed distinct gratification over the nature of the structure found. Work at setting casing and standardizing will continue probably for two more days, he said.

Shoe In Noble Well

For several weeks drillers on the Noble well, southeast of town, have been endeavoring to dislodge a steel shoe lodged in the hole. It was found impossible to extract the apparatus, and R. Stewart, in charge of operations, faced the alternative of abandoning the location or drilling out the shoe.

He chose the latter, and after a tedious period has nearly succeeded in penetrating the length of the steel. Only an inch or slightly more of progress has been consummated each day.

BARREL OF LIQUOR FOUND IN BARN

DEPUTY SHERIFF RESIGNS POSITION AND MAKES BOND FOR $750

City officers Tuesday took into keeping a barrel of liquor found in the F. A. N. O'Neal place north of town where it had been buried beneath the floor of a barn located about a half mile north of the Denver track. No arrests were made in the case. The capture was made about 6 o'clock in the evening.

According to the city marshal, the barrel containing the "moonshine" had been placed in a tunnel dug beneath one of the horse mangers. The opening is said to be large enough to hold three barrels the size of the one found.

Federal officer Tyler of Wichita Falls was present when the layout, discovered the night before, was unearthed. The barrel was taken to the city hall.

Charge Filed

As a result of the discovery a charge has been filed against F. A. N. O'Neal, deputy sheriff of Wilbarger county, charging him with having intoxicating liquor in his possession.

O'Neal appeared yesterday before Federal officials at Wichita Falls and promptly made bond in the sum of $750. A hearing in the case will be held at Wichita Falls Monday.

A court of inquiry, making a thorough investigation of this case as well as the liquor traffic in general in this county, is being conducted by county attorney John Storey. Dozens of witnesses have been summoned, but Mr. Storey declined to comment on the progress of the investigation, intimating that developments might be expected the first of next week.

O'Neal Resigns

F. A. N. O'Neal, against whom the charge of possessing liquor has been filed, Wednesday tendered his resignation as deputy sheriff to Mr. Ish. Mr. O'Neal stated that he desired no further connection with the office until he had been cleared of the accusation placed against him.

When asked by a representative of The Record concerning the disposition of the liquor at the barn north of town, Mr. O'Neal declined to make a statement at present, acting under the advice of his attorneys. He declared that he is asking that the public withhold judgment in the controversy until after the examining trial which will be held in Wichita Falls Monday.

WORK ON BRIDGE TO BEGIN MONDAY, PROMOTERS SAY

Material Shipped To Scene Of Operations Near Odell—Expect Structure To Be Finished By July 20—New Road Laid Out Through Round Timbers Ranch—Plan Highway.

Driving of piling and actual construction will begin Monday on the Interstate Bridge Company's structure over Red River on the road between Vernon and Altus, Okla., according to long distance telephonic word received this morning by Peck and Hickernell from C. R. Moore, president of Austin Bros. Bridge Company of Dallas, who has the subcontract.

Barring accidents and high water the bridge should be completed by July 20, Mr. Peck said this morning. The pile driver and other machinery was shipped Wednesday. Approximately half the twenty-eight carloads of lumber and hardware have been shipped. It is expected that work will go forward without a halt.

Plan Road To Bridge

A jury of view went out yesterday to lay out the route for a road through Round Timbers ranch, which occupies the five miles of land along the Orient railroad and the river. The road as planned will parallel the railroad. It will come out of the ranch three or four miles east of Odell where it will connect with several county roads.

A study of the highway systems of Texas, Oklahoma and the United States is now being made with a view to establishing a highway of importance between Altus and Vernon and points beyond each city. Such a highway, it is said, will be valuable from a business standpoint to towns along the route.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS START LONG TRIP TO REUNION

More than $500 was obtained from local ownership of the purpose of defraying the expenses of Confederate veterans to Richmond, Va., and then old wearers of the gray, besieged by the well wishes of those left behind, swung aboard the noon Denver train headed for Fort Worth. One of the veterans, J. A. Cragger, made the trip at his own expense, thus allowing a liberal sum to pay railroad fare and berths for the remaining travelers.

Round trip fare from Vernon was $40.01, and sleeper charges were about fifteen dollars. Veterans making the trip were W. L. Lumby, L. H. Stalcup, J. P. McCaleb, J. R. Bradstreet, J. McLoftis, J. A. Cragger, C. A. Richie, and C. J. Whitehurst. Others who went were Mrs. J. P. Hamilton of Odell, Mrs. W. J. McLaughlin and Mrs. John Mason and children of Fargo, Mat Barto, S. R. Crim and C. P. SPRAYING WITH KEROSENE REMEDY AGAINST LAWN ANTS

To get rid of lawn ants entomologists of the United States Department of Agriculture suggests drenching the nests with boiling water or pouring in a small quantity of kerosene oil. Similar treatment may be applied to nests between or beneath paving stones. Spraying the lawn with kerosene emulsion or with very strong soap wash is also recommended.

For large ant nests disluphid of carbon injected into the nest by means of an oil can or a small syringe is recommended to kill the ants. The fumes of disluphid of carbon have a very disagreeable odor and are inflammable, but they are not injurious to higher animals in the open air.

A considerable part of the latter mileage is actually complete and in service. In addition, funds have been allotted to 7,511 miles, much of which will come under construction during the present season. Besides this there is still available for new projects $60,148,000, which on the same basis as previous federal aid construction will result in construction of 8,200 miles of highway. DEATH FROM SNAKE BITES RARE IN U. S. FIGURES SHOW

Although the average mortality from American venomous snakes is a little more than 10 per cent of the persons bitten, death from snake bites is quite rare, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, because relatively few persons encounter or are bitten by the dangerous species.

The most venomous of our native snakes live in lonely, little-settled districts, often on stony or swampy land that cannot be cultivated. Usually they disappear at the approach of man, and while they may strike if provoked, the popular belief in respect to the distance they can strike is erroneous. Three-fourths of their own length is about the greatest distance possible. If the legs are well protected when one is going into deep woods or places known to be infested by rattlers or other venomous snakes, there is slight chance of being bitten.

As the food of snakes consists of living prey, they cannot be killed by poisoned baits. The only method thus far devised to kill them seems to be clubbing or shooting. This is the best done in early spring, when they are still sluggish after the winter hibernation. Allowing hogs free run of infested land may reduce the number of snakes. However, the popular idea that hogs are immune to snake bite is probably based on the impetuousness of the venomous fangs of their thick skin and fat layer rather than on actual immunity of these animals.

The varieties most commonly found in this country are the Elapidae, or Rattlesnakes, and the Crotalidae, or "pit vipers," which include rattlesnakes, cotton-mouth water moccasins, and copperheads.

Entertain With Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Culbertson entertained with a three course dinner last night at their home on S. Main street. After dinner the guests played bridge. Mrs. E. M. Hancy won high score for the women and Dr. W. R. Moore was most successful among the men. The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hancy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Parker, Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martin, Dr. and Mrs. Y. H. Babash, Miss Johnny Mallow, R. B. The acting assistant battalion sergeant major was earnestly trying to look busy in battalion headquarters one afternoon when a shiny new loopy arrived, scowled about the office, clicked his spurs together, threw out his chest and glowered at the a. a. b. s. m.

"Have a chair," suggested the later hospitably.

"I," the newcomer informed him pompously, "am Lieutenant 'Twitterwit'!"

"In that case," retorted the scum of the earth, still politely, "have two chairs."

AT THE VERNON THEATRE

Monday and Tuesday, "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"

This picture is said to rank favorably with "The Old Nest," "Over the Hill," "Way Down East" and other pictures carrying a fund of human nature. It is adapted from the song by the same name.

Wednesday and Thursday, "The Face of the World."

This picture, which was adapted to the screen from the novel of the same name, deals with the adventures and misadventures of Dr. Harold Mark and Thora, his young bride. There is a villain, and in this particular instance a most plausible and fascinating one. This role has been entrusted to Lloyd Whitlock.

He does his best to win the beautiful Thora, and for awhile it looks as though he were going to succeed, but Fate intervenes, and in a singularly appealing climax sets everything right.

Some of the big moments of the production are the wrecking of a high powered racing car, the burning of a three-story building and a rescue from the flames.

BOBWHITE ENEMY OF CORN ROOTWORM

The bob-white eats the adults or beetles of the corn rootworm which lay the eggs that later become larvae or worms and infest the corn. As many as 12 of the beetles, according to the Bureau of Entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture, have been found in the stomach of one bob-white. The red-headed woodpecker, nighthawk, cardinal, kingbird, and phoebe also eat the beetles and reduce the damage done by the Southern corn rootworm.

COAD METHOD OF BOLL WEEVIL POISONING

Note: There is so much misunderstanding about the Coad Boll Weevil control method that the following information is published here with:

Use only pure calcium arsenate in form of dry powder, and apply only in dust form.

Calcium arsenate must contain not less than 40 per cent total arsenate pentoxid and not more than .75 per cent of water-soluble arsenate pentoxid.

The density of the poison must be not less than 80 nor more than 100 cubic inches to the pound.

If in doubt request the nearest county agent to send sample of poison to B. P. Coad, Director of Delta Laboratory, Tallulah, La., where it will be analyzed free of charge.

Use only approved machinery for applying poison. Poison only when air is calm and cotton plants are moist (usually at night). Use 5 to 7 pounds of poison per acre to each application and apply every four days for three consecutive periods. The Delta Laboratory will supply names of approved machines for applying the poison.

Start poisoning when weevils have punctured from 10 to 15 per cent of cotton squares. If it rains within twenty-four hours after dusting apply the poison again immediately.

Do not depend upon hand dust guns to cover more than eight acres per man.

Try to raise the largest yield of cotton on the fewest acres, as it costs just as much to poison cotton yielding one-fourth bale an acre as a field yielding a bale an acre.

Always leave an unpoisoned part of the field for comparison with the poisoned part.

(By Victor H. Schoffelmayer, Field Editor of The Semi-Weekly Farm News.)

In view of the general lateness of the cotton season and the possibility of serious boll weevil damage, which often attends a late cotton crop, a discussion of accepted practical methods of boll weevil control may be of interest to Texas cotton growers.

According to scientists of the United States Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Entomology, there is only one effective method of boll weevil control and that is the calcium arsenate dusting method applied to the plants when they are covered with dew.

However, to be effective, the calcium arsenate must be scientifically compounded and must be applied properly as outlined by Director B. R. Coad of the Delta Laboratory at Tallulah, La., the discoverer of the calcium method of weevil control. Mr. Coad has spent ten years investigating boll weevil control methods. His researches are based upon wholesale field tests under practical conditions ranging from a few acres to thousands of acres in one block. Some of his experiments were conducted on the world's largest cotton plantation—that of the Mississippi Delta Planting Company at Scott, Miss. The entire cotton crop on this plantation is regularly dusted with calcium arsenate each season and the cotton yields have increased from 100 to 300 pounds of seed cotton an acre.

Essentials For Success

The following requirements are set forth by Director Coad as absolutely essential to the success of calcium arsenate:

Calcium arsenate must not contain less than 40 per cent of total arsenate pentoxid.

It must not contain more than three-fourths of 1 per cent water-soluble arsenate pentoxid.

The density of the calcium arsenate must not be less than 80 or more than 100 cubic inches per pound.

How is the cotton grower to know when these conditions have been met?

He can quickly find out by mailing samples of the calcium arsenate direct to B. R. Coad, Delta Laboratory, Tallulah, La., or better still he can ask his county agent to do this for him and thus serve the entire community by the information obtained in that manner.

Further cautions urged by Mr. Coad are that only approved types of dusting machinery be used for the work. A list of these approved machines can be received from Mr. Coad.

The poison is to be applied only when the air is calm and the plants are moist. This usually means making the applications at night when conditions are most favorable.

Five to seven pounds of calcium arsenate are to be applied in one application.

Start to poison weevils when from 10 to 15 per cent of the squares have been punctured.

Put on three or four applications in succession about four days apart, after which stop the poisoning till the weevils again become serious poison, again late in the season, perhaps once or twice.

If there is heavy rainfall within twenty-four hours after applying the calcium arsenate, repeat the application immediately as the rains have washed the dust away.

Mr. Coad warns growers not to expect to eradicate the boll weevil. Poisoning merely controls their sufficiently to permit the plants to make a crop of cotton in proportion to the soil's fertility and there always will be weevils in a successfully treated field.

Keep your cotton acreage low and do everything to make the highest yield on the fewest acres. It costs the same to poison a field making one-fourth of a bale to an acre as it does to poison one yielding a bale.

Leave a portion of the field unpoisoned for comparison and see the difference in results.—Dallas News.

REDUCING FLY DAMAGE

Dairy and beef production profits are greatly reduced throughout the summer which should be the time of cheapest gains, by various fly pests.

The worst of all is the small blood sucking black fly commonly known as the "horn fly." These as well as other kinds of flies, increase very fast in warm weather, especially during rainy spells. During dry weather these flies increase slowly except in manure piles and old straw stacks. During a dry season if the manure is kept cleaned up thoroughly, and such harboring places removed, fly pests are not usually serious.

At all times during the summer the manure should be hauled out and scattered as soon as made. This will greatly reduce a number of flies of all kinds. In warm damp spells, however, they become so numerous as to greatly reduce profits, and then it is advisable to use sprays to destroy and repel. Most sprays for this purpose that are on the market are supposed to be used largely as repellents. By applying to the cow the flies may be kept off for a short while, but our experience has been that with most of these sprays where a sufficient amount is applied to keep the flies off all day, the cow is made uncomfortable and sometimes the skin is even blistered.

Fortunately these horn flies remain on the cattle practically all the time and if the spray is used each day, the supply is soon reduced to a number that is not particularly bothersome. Such a spray mixture may be prepared by thoroughly mixing the following:

50 gallons of Kerosene.
12 gallon Croolin or some of the commercial coal tar dips.
44 gallon Oil of Cedar.

This should be sprayed on the cows in a very fine mist and applied very lightly. It should of course, be thoroughly mixed before spraying. This we have found to be very effective for killing flies both on the cows and those that fly in the air.

The flies which gather on the walls of the dairy barn, both inside and outside may be easily killed with this same spray. If applied very lightly to the skin of the cattle, it soon evaporates without doing great damage.

Barbecue and Auction Sale

Thursday, June 22, at Pease River Oil Co's. Well located in Farmers Valley--9 miles West of Vernon

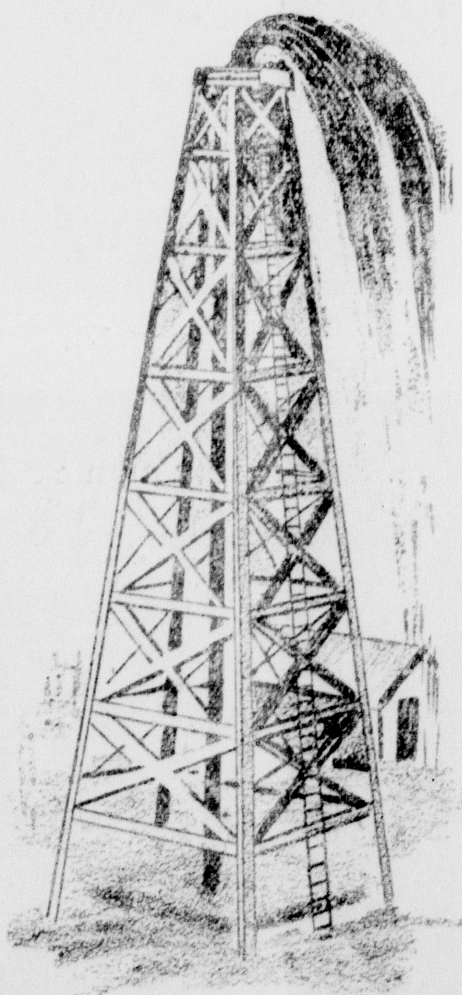

One hundred acres of oil and gas leases, one-fourth mile from the well, will be sold in five, ten and twenty acre tracts at Public Auction.

This company was organized in the early spring by E. H. Baldwin, W. R. Alexander, J. T. Swim and E. H. Webster all farmers living in the Farmers Valley neighborhood. Jess Morris, one of the most successful drillers in this part of the country is drilling the well.

We are already down 650 feet and we are now drilling day and night. According to the geologist report we have shallow production and it is expected that in the event we get a well it will be found between 1000 and 1200 feet.

No Money Paid For Labor

So far we have paid no money for labor on this well. Those who promoted this enterprise have done the work themselves. However, it is necessary to raise a little money with which to purchase fuel, repairs and possibly employ one laborer with which to complete the well.

TAKE A LITTLE CHANCE WITH US

WE ARE GIVING OUR TIME AND MONEY WITH THE HOPE THAT WE WILL BE LUCKY ENOUGH TO BRING IN A WELL IN WILBARGER COUNTY.

In order to raise funds with which to defray the actual necessary expenses to complete this well we are going to sell next Thursday at public auction—100 acres of leases within one quarter of a mile of the derrick.

IF WE WIN—YOU WIN

COME!--You Are Welcome

The public is invited to attend this barbecue and look the proposition over. You will not obligate yourself to purchase by coming to the barbecue.

BETTER DIVERSIFICATION

It is a peculiar condition of our modern economic life that the matters of cost and price are of the most absorbing interest, while the actual values of commodities based upon a fundamental standard of value are practically ignored. Men take some absorbing interest, while the actual value of the gold dollar, especially since the period of great inflation during the war has forced this upon their attention, but neither farmers nor business men notice the extreme fluctuations of the basic commodities in values of each other.

The Texas farmer will often continue to sell his corn upon the market when he could reap a fifty per cent profit by turning it to pork. Likewise, he often continues to grow cotton out of habit, rather than turn to some more profitable crop, for the simple reason that he is not aware that relative prices are such that he would be rewarded for dropping the cultivation of cotton.

In the beginning of the development of our present economic system, commerce was carried on entirely by direct barter. Then came the use of money as a medium of exchange and a standard of value. The use of this very simple instrument, while it has facilitated trade and has been the means for the greater part of our commercial development, has, nevertheless, been responsible for our growing indifference to real values of commodities. There is a present day tendency to laugh down any reference to values of commodities measured in terms of each other, as a reversion to the primitive, but whatever is primitive is usually fundamental.

Tables, carefully compiled, show almost without exception the rapid decline of the value of cotton in terms of hogs, corn, oats and wheat. Furthermore, any investigation into a like comparison of cotton with other commodities will invariably show a similar rapid decline in the value of the Southern staple.

There is one answer to the question, "How can such a condition?" and that answer is "Diversification." Not diversification blindly as has often been the case in the past, but diversification with a constant eye to reaping any benefit indicated by the rise in the price of one commodity measured in terms of other commodities that could be produced upon the same land.

In the past the farmer has been much "preached at" by business men, bankers and others along the lines of diversification. They have told him to raise more hogs, grow more potatoes, grow more oats, grow more corn, but such advice was usually given blindly and the farmer not infrequently found himself overstocked with sweet potatoes, peanuts or other crops, and no market upon which to sell them. The consequence of such a situation was usually not only to swing the farmer back to the straight and narrow path of cotton production, but to make him turn a deaf ear to propaganda upon the subject of diversification.

Due to the low cotton production of last season, cotton stands today on the true market of equivalent values at a higher quotation than it has stood for many years past. Ten pounds of cotton, middling, is now worth approximately 16 1/2 pounds of hogs, 4 bushels of oats, 2 1/2 bushels of corn, and 1 1/4 bushels of wheat. If these ratios hold during the coming season, the cotton farmer will be relatively prosperous.

No end of effort should be made, however, to open the eyes of the Southern farmers and business men to the fact that it was an enforced season of diversification and poor crop conditions with consequent low cotton production that has brought about a condition that may permit the Southern farmer this year to make a profit comparative to that of the grower of wheat, oats, corn and the raiser of hogs.—Texas Chamber of Commerce.

BOLL WEEVIL WARFARE

According to B. R. Coad, well-known director of the boll weevil laboratory of the United States Department of Agriculture, the familiar proverb cautioning preparation for war in time of peace is especially applicable to fighting the great cotton pest. Late poisoning, Mr. Coad points out, is likely to hurt the farmer more than it hurts the weevil, and the only way to be sure of getting an even break with the destroyer is to be supplied in advance with calcium arsenate and dusting machinery.

Wilbarger farmers can well afford to give careful consideration to the suggestion of the government expert. Although the weevil has never assumed dangerous proportions locally, there can be little doubt but that it has existed here in some numbers at least for several years.

The United States Department of Agriculture finds every year that many farmers fail to realize their danger early enough, and then start making desperate efforts to poison after the infestation has become very heavy. This very greatly increases the expense of poisoning. There are so many weevil stages present in the squares and bolls that some of them come out every day, and poison must be kept constantly on the plants if any good is to be done by it.

Furthermore, if there comes even a short spell of rainy weather, such control as has been gained is lost and the farmer has gone to heavy expense for nothing. The only safe course, it is evident, is to be prepared to poison at the right time.

THE BOY SCOUTS

A rejuvenation of the activities of local boy scouts during the summer months should receive the co-operation of every Vernon youth of eligible age, and the support of parents of these youths as well. Under efficient leadership, participating in health giving exercise and provided with government equipment from the armory of the national guard, Vernon lads should enjoy a profitable vacation.

Organizations having as their primary purpose the correct moral and physical development of American youth are still too few. There is only a scattering patronage of those which do exist, with the attendant result that many young lads who otherwise might have developed habits and character of real worth have drifted down on the current of worldliness.

It isn't that the average American youth has gone to the proverbial dogs; it is rather that enough of them have not emerged into the type of citizenship this nation has the right to expect from every one of its residents. Late hours on the streets of town or city and their consequent evils, indolence and petty crime are too prevalent in the modern age to be completely ignored.

Vices such as these are automatically eliminated through membership in the boy scouts or similar organizations. No member of the troop can indulge in waywardness without being false to the standard imposed upon him when he assumed the obligations of membership. Allegiance to the flag, service, honor and truth are mottoes which must eventually raise the level of American ideals if consistently instilled into youth of the land.

A fire blowout may also mean a flat pocketbook.

A man's friends seldom find out what a bad egg he is until he is broke.

Recognition will kill Bolshevism, is the British view. But not unless it is recognized for what it is.

STORIES OF GREAT INDIANS

By Elmo Scott Watson

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

WARRENTON BECAME A BRITISH GENERAL

IN THE year 1768 Meethetashie, wife of Chief Pukesheno of the Shawnees, gave birth to triplets. One of them, Tecumseh or Tecumseh, "The Shooting Star," a name strangely prophetic of his meteoric career, was destined to be called by many historians "the greatest American Indian."

Tecumseh distinguished himself in battle early. Although he was a great warrior, he was not a cruel one and, due to his influence, the Shawnees gradually gave up the practice of torturing captives. He was a proud chief, too. At a council with Gen. William Henry Harrison, governor of Indiana, in 1810, the interpreter named Tecumseh a chair with the remark, "Your father requests you to take this chair." "My father? The sun is my father and the earth is my mother and I will rest upon her bosom," replied Tecumseh laughingly as he took his place among his warriors on the ground.

Tecumseh had come to protest against the cession of Shawnee lands under the Treaty of Fort Wayne, but his objections gained him nothing. He travelled throughout the Middle West gaining recruits for his confederation. His scheme failed.

While he was absent, his brother, the loud-mouthed Prophet, rashly precipitated an attack upon Harrison and the Battle of Tippecanoe in 1811 ended Tecumseh's dream forever. He immediately enlisted in the service of the British, who, at the outbreak of the War of 1812, made him a brigadier general. Once while he discovered some of his Indians butchering helpless captives, he hotly rebuked General Proctor for allowing it.

"Sir," replied the general, "Your Indians could not be restrained."

"Begone!" shouted Tecumseh. "You are not fit to command. Go home and put on petticoats."

Later in the campaign when the cowardly Proctor continued retreating Tecumseh forced him to make a stand on the Thames river in Ontario. He seems to have had a presentiment of death for he discarded his general's uniform and went into the battle wearing the deerskin garb of a Shawnee warrior. He was killed in that battle.

His had been the career of a shooting star, truly. From the Mad river in Ohio, his birthplace, to the Thames, it had been only 45 years. But in that short time Tecumseh made his place in history.

ODDITIES IN THE NEWS

"Women will bring nothing new to politics," said the opponents of woman suffrage. They didn't know about Mrs. Mildred Brandt, police magistrate of an Illinois town. Mrs. Brandt says: "I am going to hold police court in my parlor. It will take less of my time away from the domestic duties and I'll save the rent of a downtown office."

"If a fellow wants to drink, he will drink," says a Kentucky mountain expression. So it would not seem surprising that some alleged moonshiners, caught and put in a Kentucky jail, proceeded to make a mock of the Volstead Act by making home-brew in their cells. In some way some sugar and corn bread had been obtained, a stove in a cell and an old tin can and some water made up the remainder of the outfit. The "impudence" as it was termed, was discovered when sounds of hilarity were heard from the cells.

Daylight saving in the Nation's Capital is being fought by letter carriers on the naive grounds that "no matter how early a letter carrier may retire, he feels, when shutting off his alarm clock at 4:30 a. m., that he has been robbed of one hour of sleep."

A member of the Canadian House of Commons is making an effort to prevent Canadians from exporting electric power to the United States on the ground that such exportation adds to the growth of his nation at the expense of Canada. He requests a prohibitive duty on the export of electricity.

At the meeting of U. C. V. Camp Cabell Wednesday afternoon the veterans expressed hearty thanks to those assisting with Sunday night's program and to Rev. E. L. Independence Day

Will be celebrated July the fourth as is the annual custom at Condon Springs.

The struggle in which our forefathers fought was the most heroic of the ages. Their clear vision, their courage and self sacrifice has proved magnificently fruitful. The excellence of their work has been attested by the march of events. It is for us their descendants, to tell, and to tell again, the old story of what they did and what they suffered, to insist that they be as familiar as the multiplication table to each generation of Americans, to see to it that the stars on the flag shine with undiminished lustre, that the stripes speak to all Americans of the snow-white purity of our forefathers motives, and of the red blood they offered, that the government of the people, for the people, by the people might be established in this western world.

Everybody invited to Condon Springs that day. Plenty of spring water and band music free to all.

MAKE A NAME FOR YOURSELF

The young man who can not save money is doomed to go through life unknown and unsuccessful.

The man who does save shows that he is boss of himself, and ready to assume other responsibilities that may come to him.

Saving means more than having just so much money; it means building character, winning the respect of others and being able to grasp opportunity when it comes. It means making a name for yourself.

BOARD RECOMMENDS CHANGE OF SITE

APPEAL IN FARGO SCHOOL CON- TROVERSY CHANGES DISPO- SITION OF CASE

Recommendation that a new school site at Fargo be chosen one-fourth of a mile northwest of the former location and on the A. C. Boger farm was made last week-end by the county board of education which heard an appeal of the controversy over a school site being asked by Fargo trustees and others. In an earlier ruling the county superintendent of schools decided that the former site should be sustained.

Reserves Ruling

A ruling in the case was reserved by the county board until Saturday, June 17. The controversy between the school trustees and others arose over an alleged attempt to move the location of the Fargo school. The building housing the school burned to the ground last winter.

Trustees of the Fargo district are R. B. Richardson, J. T. Marr and J. S. Mason. The board of education consists of Cecil Storey of Vernon who is chairman, S. T. Porterfield and H. D. Harrold of Tolbert, S. O. Wilson of Samsou and H. M. King of Oklahoma.

"Cheer up, sir," encouraged the kindly but truthful phenologist who had just read the head of the son of a farmer. "Your boy isn't necessarily a failure. He has ability along certain lines."

"Could you name one?"

Foster's Bulletin.

Washington, D. C. June 16: World meteorology will be of immense importance during the thirteen days centering on June 24, particularly in cropweather of North America and Europe. This great weather event will probably be the most important, in a general way, that the 1922 crop season will experience. In North America east of the Rockies, results will be too much rain at a time that will do some damage to crops; in the Philippines a hurricane will suddenly surprise and sweep westward into Bay of Bengal; southern Europe will get another application of the intense, blistering hot wave and a great increase of the dangerous drought that is now only in its beginning. Australia and the East Indies shortage of rain will be more severe, except in small localities where the hurricane will cause floods. North America will be the most fortunate of all countries as the benefits will overbalance the damages. But the winter wheat crop of the middle southwest lower Mississippi valleys will get rain during these storms not far from June 24, at a time that the moisture can do no good but much harm to the harvests in the plains sections. The rain shortage earlier in the season, foretold in these bulletins, caused winter wheat plants to develop an average of only four instead of the usual average of eight and threshing time will reveal much less wheat than has been estimated.

NORTHEAST DIVISION: East of Duluth and the Mississippi river, north of 36; too much rain is expected last two weeks of June. Near 22 temperatures will be high and near 26 low. Severe storms during the week centering on June 23; frosts threatening in northern parts not far from 25.

NORTHWEST DIVISION: West of Duluth to the Rockies crest and north of 36; where high ridges or long rising slopes do not cut off moisture moving northwestward, too much rain during the 13 days centering on June 24. High temperatures near 22; severe storms near 24; frosts threatening in northern parts near 26.

Louisiana, Mississippi and all westward to Rockies, south of 36; not so stormy; no hurricanes or floods expected; too much rain for crops and grain harvests; temperature averaged about to above normal; most extreme weather events near 24. Above paragraph covers 13 days centering on June 24.

SILAGE MIXTURES TESTED FOR STEERS IN THE SOUTH

To get results economically most cattle feeders should include some kind of silage in the rations, says the United States Department of Agriculture. In the rations, says the United States Department of Agriculture, Steers fed on silage usually not only make more economical gains, shrink less, and make more profits than the steers fed on dry roughage, but also make it possible to utilize crops grown primarily in a rotation for restoring the fertility of worn-out lands.

The comparative value of a number of different silage crops for steer feeding was recently worked out by the department in co-operation with the Louisiana Experiment Station. In one instance similar lots of cattle were fed a ration of cottonseed meal and blackstrap molasses in combination with corn silage, corn and Biloxi soy-bean silage, sorghum silage, sorghum and Biloxi soy-bean silage, and Biloxi soy-bean silage.

The best gain was made by the steers fed the straight corn silage, but it was shown that the capacity of a farm for fattening or wintering cattle may be greatly increased by the use of heavy-yielding silage crops such as sorghum and Japanese cane. Immature soy-beans mixed with corn or sorghum were not satisfactory, but with late-maturing crops like Japanese cane these silages gave very good results. Sorghum silage and Japanese cane and Biloxi soy-bean silage are practically equal in feeding value for steers when supplemented by cottonseed meal and molasses.

WORLD'S CROP WEATHER NEWS

By W. T. Foster.

Government crop reports for May are not correctly estimated because important crop weather news has been made public since the end of May. Recently the newspapers have published many reports of bad winter grain conditions in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and other parts of that great winter grain country. The editor of Chicago Roundup Grain Magazine made an investigation trip of 180 miles by auto through that winter grain country and reports bad conditions generally. He says the dry weather of the past months caused the wheat plants to send down only about one-third the usual number of roots and those only a short depth; that more recent rains caused a fair growth of the wheat stalks, but that such wheat conditions cannot produce any considerable amount of good wheat.

The president of the Houston Grain Company of Kansas City recently made a careful investigating trip by auto through that country and says: "I believe that the wheat will prove a disappointment when threshed as I failed to see any wheat that will make fifteen bushels to the acre. Corn is exceedingly late, some of it not planted and most of it only two or three inches high and badly in need of cultivation." All this is good evidence tending to confirm the correctness of my long ago forecasts. The excessive rains are, as predicted, on the southern, and the deficiencies on the northern slopes.

June 8, only twelve cars of wheat reached Chicago; June 7 only a few carloads passed through Chicago, none stopped; June 6 five cars of wheat. The previous week from 100 to 500 cars arrived every day. The farmers will not sell their grain at present prices; to do so would be a great error.

Open Column

Your boy, my boy, our neighbor's boy, all are the men of tomorrow. They must take our places in the business world and put their shoulders to the great industrial wheel that grinds out the life, happiness, and success of the world in the future.

Our country will live and succeed in carrying out the democratic ideas according as we instill the ideas of democracy into our sons. So the question must be asked of us, "WHAT AM I DOING TO BRING MY BOY INTO A BROAD DEMOCRATIC VISION OF LIFE?" Regardless of how we may answer this, the one organization that can help our boys the most is the BOY SCOUTS.

Vernon has never had a real live, fully organized troop, but plans are nearing completion that will give her full affiliation at headquarters. The National Guard Armory and field equipment, by Captain Watts' kindness, have been tendered us for use on hikes, etc. Also the Chamber of Commerce is behind the movement and will give its limit to see it go over.

There is just one more thing needed to make the campaign a success and that is to get every boy in Vernon enlisted as scouts in order that we may help him pass an instructive and an enjoyable vacation, and that he may help us to improve the citizenship of the United States.

SCOTT MASTER.

STUDEBAKER AGAIN FIRST TO COMPLETE TRIP INTO YOSEMITE

After three days of bucking the snow drifts and dynamiting fallen trees that blocked the roads, Hart L. Weaver with three passengers in a Studebaker Big Six, led the way into the Yosemite Valley, thereby winning the Yosemite National Park Company's cup for the first car in 1922 to make its way over any of the three roads that lead into the valley from the Pacific coast.

The feat of the Big Six is all the more striking from the fact that last year another Studebaker was the first to penetrate the valley; and also because the second car, this year, was also a Studebaker—a Light Six, driven by Wm. J. Silva of Modesto, California.

The Yosemite National Park company awards this trophy to the first car of the season that breaks its way into the Valley under touring conditions. Every car must come in absolutely under its own power without the use of block or tackle or any towing assistance.

The start was made from Modesto, California, at midnight on Thursday, May 4 and the Big Six crew reached Wawona at 5 o'clock Friday morning. A few miles beyond Wawona the party met their first obstruction, a tree five feet in diameter had fallen across the road. So deeply was it lodged that it took four separate charges of dynamite to clear the way.

From this point on the car charged snow drifts and the crew dynamited trees until they arrived in the valley on the afternoon of May 7, after continuous day and night traveling. At Bishop Creek snow between five and six feet deep was encountered. Here as in other places, it was necessary for the crew to shovel a path for the car. At no time did the party resort to rope block or tackle, for by rules of the award it was necessary to cover the entire distance under the car's own power.

Following the two Studebaker cars into the valley by various routes were seven other automobiles. The return trip was almost as difficult as the one going in, as a two foot snow had fallen again, blocking the road. The trip at this season of the year always has its thrills and perils and is a test of the power of cars and the endurance of drivers alike. Many that try it each year are forced to turn back. One of the greatest difficulties is to find the trail over the snow covered roads.

Cheapest in the Long Run

The cheapest priced wagon is the one which will save you the most money—and there is far more than the first cost to be taken into consideration with most wagons. But with "The Old Reliable Peter Schuttler" it's different. With it, the first cost is practically the only cost. It's built right and stays right. It saves repair bills; it avoids break-downs; it reduces the after purchase expense—and it wears longer than any other wagon built.

And with all its cost-reducing, time and trouble-saving features, the first cost of the "Peter Schuttler Wagon" is only slightly more than the first cost of the inferior makes. And every cent of the extra cost goes into extra quality. There's no more profit on a "Peter Schuttler Wagon" than on the so-called other standard makes. The difference in price is due entirely to the difference in material and the difference in the way this material is put together. It is this difference which makes the "Peter Schuttler" by far the cheapest priced of all wagons in the long run.

We are CLOSING OUT our stock of these WAGONS at attractive prices.
